Democrats Score Big Win With Lausche

Congress Majority Garnered

Ebright Is Only GOPster Elected

COLUMBUS, Nov. 3 — Ohio's Democratic juggernaut smashed over Republican opposition today to return Ex-Gov. Frank J. Lausche to the governor's chair and to give President Truman a campaign-winning lead in the race for Ohio's 25 presidential elector votes.

President Truman had an almost unsurmountable lead for those 25 electoral votes on the basis of nearly complete returns.

The secretary of State's tabulation of 9,319 of 9,710 polling places in Ohio, showed:

Truman, 1,400,043; Dewey, 1,380,766.

In addition to the governorship and the presidential sweepstakes, the Democrats also captured eight additional Congress seats and all state offices except that held by the veteran Republican state treasurer, Don H. Ebright.

In returns from 7,383 polling place, Ebright maintained a lead of 1,048,687 to 996,505 over his Democratic challenger, Harry V. Armstrong.

Lausche's lead over Gov. Herbert passed the 125,000 - vote mark this afternoon and still was mounting.

On the basis of 8,242 of the state's 9,710 polling places as tabulated by the secretary of state's office, the count stood:

Lausche, 1,344,107; Herbert, 1,198,237.

The stunning, unexpected tidal wave of ballots lashed tremendously in regaining for the Democrats control of the lower house of Congress. The proud Republicans, who had boasted a margin of 19 to 4, were whittled down to a minority with the Dems holding the edge, 12 to 11.

THE VICTORY of the bushy-haired, smiling Lausche, who will be 54 on Nov. 14, assumed landslide proportions as late returns came in. His margin passed the 110,000 mark with 7,383 of the precincts in.

Republican Gov. Thomas J. Herbert, a fellow-Cleveland-er who unseated Lausche two years ago, conceded defeat at one o'clock in the morning. About 50 minutes later, Lt. Gov. Paul M. Herbert admitted "it looks bad for the rest of the state ticket as well."

Dewey can blame a reversal of the voting trend of recent years. The New York governor ran a much poorer race in the rural counties which were responsible for giving him Ohio by a narrow 12,000 four years ago—but he ran proportionately much better in the industrial areas.

As expected, the independents supporting Third Party Candidate Henry A. Wallace were hardly in the race.

In fact, most election boards, in view of the heated Truman-Dewey battle, failed to report their vote at all. However, they were believed to have received even less than the three percent of the vote which the so-called experts—red-faced as they were today—predicted for them.

Stephen M. Young, himself a former congressman-at-large when Ohio had two such seats, defeated Republican Congressman-at-Large George H. Bender. Not to be outdone, Young's district colleagues captured 11 district congressional contests to give the Dems the first Ohio

51 Anti-Labor Solons Ousted

NEW YORK, Nov. 3—At least 51 House and Senate members who voted for the Taft-Hartley bill were defeated in Tuesday's elections.

Another 250, however, overcame organized labor's campaign to "purge" the so-called "unfriendly" congressmen.

Late returns today revealed that 45 members of the House and six senators who supported the new labor law were defeated.

Whether this was due to labor's attack on pro-Taft-Hartley supporters or the Democratic sweep was problematical.

Congressman Brehm Eases Into Win For Reelection

Representative Walter E. Brehm of the 11th Congressional District appeared Wednesday to be one of the few Republicans to stem the Democratic tide which swept Ohio polls Tuesday.

The Republican incumbent polled 33,399 unofficial votes in the five-county district to lead by 843 ballots his Democratic opponent, Joseph Allen, of New Lexington.

The Logan legislator took the lead in Ross, Fairfield and Perry Counties and lost in Hocking and Pickaway Counties.

Following is the total vote breakdown by counties:

Pickaway County, Brehm—4,521, Allen—3,045; Ross County, Brehm—9,910, Allen—9,073; Hocking County, Brehm—3,746, Allen—4,226; Fairfield County, Brehm—9,724, Allen—9,105; and Perry County, Brehm—5,498, Allen—5,107.

Near final counts in all races showed the division in Congress, barring a complete reversal in a few late precincts, will be 12-11 in favor of the Democrats.

STEPHEN M. Young, a former congressman-at-large, won in the Lausche sweep over veteran Republican, George H. Bender, of Cleveland, on the basis of near final returns.

The Democrats also won—besides the second district in Cincinnati—the following races:

Third (Dayton); Sixth (Portsmouth); Ninth (Toledo); Fourteenth (Akron); Fifteenth (Zanesville); Sixteenth (Canton); Eighteenth (Steubenville); Nineteenth (Youngstown); Twentieth (Youngstown); and Twenty-First (both Cleveland).

This was a net gain of eight seats for the Democrats, since they already held the Fourteenth, Nineteenth and two Cleveland districts.

New Democratic faces in the 81st Congress will be those of Earl T. Wagner (2nd); Edward Breen (3rd); James G. Polk (6th); Thomas H. Burke (9th); Robert T. Secrest (15th); John McSweeney (16th); Wayne L. Hayes (18th); and Congressman-at-Large Young.

Democrats retaining their seats by big margins were Walter Huber, of the 14th-Akron district; Michael J. Kirwan, of the 19th-Youngstown district; and Robert Crosser, of the 21st-Cleveland district.

Michael A. Feighan did not have Republican opposition in the 20th-Cleveland district.

Pickaway Voters Frown On 2 County Tax Levies

Both major money issues up before Pickaway County voters appeared doomed Wednesday as counting of ballots was concluded.

They were the $100,000 Pickaway Fairgrounds levy and the $210,000 bond issue earmarked for construction and repair of 11 Walnut Township bridges.

The agricultural levy was downed outright in the balloting when only 2,904 votes were cast for the levy and 4,237 were cast against it, according to the unofficial tally.

Bridge bond brought 4,264 favorable ballots while 3,278 were cast against it.

Other county levies and bond issues were more warmly received by voters, however. Prime among them was the $225,000 building bond issue filed by Walnut Township local school. The Walnut bond appeared to have gathered sufficient percentage majority when an unofficial total of 264 positive ballots were cast against 147 negative tickets.

ASHVILLE and Tarlton village tax levies appeared certain for passage when an unofficial total of 293 positive ballots were tallied in Ashville polls compared to 154 negative ballots. Tarlton voters cast 84 ballots in favor of its measure while 50 opposing tickets were tallied.

All seven of the county's school levy issues appeared to have gained sufficient majority in the Tuesday balloting.

Ashville village school issue received an unofficial ballot of 2755 favorable votes while only 93 opposing votes were tallied. New Holland school levy was believed to have passed when an unofficial tally of 205 positive ballots were tallied as compared to 43 opposed.

Perry Township school levy brought an unofficial 177 positive ballots.

Prosecutor, Judge Topped By Yearlings

Three new Pickaway County Democratic candidates—elect, who struck upset victories over their Republican opponents in Tuesday's election, are set to take offices at the turn of the new year.

Most decisive defeat was handed Prosecuting Attorney Kenneth M. Robbins, Republican incumbent, who lost to his challenger, Guy Cline, by an unofficial margin of 2,065 votes.

Another upset was registered in probate court where George Young, Democrat, unseated Republican Incumbent Sterling M. Lamb by a slim 196-vote majority.

Both Robbins and Lamb were defeated by newcomers—virtual yearlings considering previous political experience.

While County Commission John Keller was given an even chance to be reelected—and he was—his fellow Democrat, William Goode, stood head and shoulders above Keller and two Republicans running for the two open commission seats.

Goode polled the largest commissioner vote—5,456; and Keller was second with 5,065 votes. Republican Richard H. Hedges received 4,462 votes and Fred E. Moeller, Republican, cleared 4,418 ballots.

ALSO ELECTED in a contested vote battle was Democrat Arthur L. Wilder, incumbent clerk of courts. He took an early lead over his Republican foe, Edward Amey, and never was overtaken. A man who was labeled as the best possible upset in pre-election forecasting, Wilder won by a majority of 631 votes.

At about 11:15 p. m. Tuesday, long before half of total returns were in, Robbins conceded defeat to Cline. On the other hand, the probate judge race between Young and Lamb was nip and tuck until last returns were reported.

Prosecutor-elect Cline was successful in his maiden attempt in politics as he benefitted by the revival of Democratic Party strength here. Robbins was seeking his second term of office.

While all other terms of office will begin Jan. 1, Lamb will not give up his seat until Feb. 9. He is winding up his fourth year as probate judge. He has been practicing law since 1930.

Henry's Friends Very Few Here

Henry Wallace's 25 delegates for the Progressive Party had fewer friends than fingers in Pickaway County Tuesday.

A maximum of eight Wallace ballots were cast here.

Two of Wallace's delegates received eight votes. Others received from four to seven ballots.

It was a sharp slap against the Communist-backed third party and re-emphasis of the fact Pickaway wants no part of the Pink-tinted clan.

1944 Republican Gains Here Wiped Off Books Tuesday

Republican gains made in Pickaway County in the 1944 election were cleared off the board Tuesday when the Democrats swept into all offices except two.

The last Republican toe-hold was held here by Coroner Lloyd Jones and State Representative H. E. Louis, incumbents who were unseated in the county's 41 precincts.

Unofficial tabulations early Wednesday gave President Truman, the Democrat incumbent, a 318-vote majority over his Republican foe, Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York.

The President polled a total of 5,298 votes with 4,960 going to Dewey as the Democrats stepped into the breach to hand their opponents an upset.

AS EARLY as 10 p. m. Tuesday, local board of election officials were telling passersby that "Pickaway has gone Democratic."

The outcome than Karl Herrmann, newly-elected chairman of the county's Democratic executive committee. He declared:

"I believe the showing is the result of a trend back to the old days plus a lot of hard work on the part of our party members."

In the race for the Ohio governor's chair, Former Gov. Frank J. Lausche was given 6,019 votes by Pickaway Countians while the present governor, Thomas J. Herbert, was credited with 4,458 ballots. The difference is 1,561.

Official records showed that in the 1946 Lausche-Herbert vote battle, Pickaway went Republican by a margin of 239 votes.

In the 1944 presidential race, the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt trailed Dewey by 635 votes in Pickaway County.

The 1940 presidential picture was the last time the Democrats polled a majority here. They gave Roosevelt a margin of 1,921 votes over his Republican opponent, the late Wendell Willkie.

In Tuesday's balloting for president in Pickaway County, Truman carried 23 of the 41 precincts. Of the 12 Circleville precincts, all but two went Democratic. Only Precinct A, and Precinct C, First Ward, cast a majority for Dewey.

LARGEST precinct in the county, Circleville's Precinct C in the Fourth Ward, went for the president by a vote of 337 to 141. Dewey's best showing was in New Holland where he received 194 votes to 124 for Truman.

Smallest ballot total in any one precinct was tallied in Darbyville where Dewey collected 46 and Truman received 43.

Here's the way Pickaway County voted on the state ticket:

President Hauls In New Congress

NEW YORK, Nov. 3—President Truman today won the presidential election to serve another four years in the White House.

Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, his GOP rival, conceded his victory at 11:12 a. m.

Dewey tossed in the sponge when Truman went into the lead in Ohio, a pivotal state.

With the President 14,000 votes in front and the missing districts considered to be in Truman territory, the game New York governor yielded to the inevitable.

With Ohio in his column, Truman was certain of carrying 26 states with a total of 274 electors. Truman needed only 268 to win.

The President not only won but pulled a solid Democratic Congress back into power with him.

The Senate lines up 52 Democrats and 43 Republicans, with two races still in doubt.

The House lines up probably with 247 Democrats, 187 Republicans and one American Laborite, who usually votes with the Democrats.

THIS GAVE the President a greater House majority than even the late Franklin Delano

Truman Shows Humility In His Victory

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 3—With tears in his eyes—tears of profound humility—President Truman received the congratulations of his friends and aides today as Gov. Thomas E. Dewey conceded a Democratic victory.

In a voice ringing with deep emotion, the chief executive said to those about him in his presidential suite at Kansas City's Muehlebach hotel:

"Thank you, thank you, from the bottom of my heart!"

There was a scene of wild excitement in the penthouse suite atop the hotel as the Truman lead mounted to over 300 electoral votes and word was flashed that Dewey had conceded.

Girl secretaries wept with joy. Aides ran around slapping each other on the back and pumping hands.

Bedlam broke loose.

THE PRESIDENT was in the living room of his suite, having just finished a light breakfast of grapefruit, toast, bacon and skimmed milk.

He was surrounded by his top

Election News Topples Stocks

NEW YORK, Nov. 3—The stock market broke one to two points this morning on the election news. The Wall Street community, which had been confident of a Dewey victory, began to pile up selling orders before the opening.

When the bell rang, large blocks were thrown on the market. For the first ten minutes, American Telephone, off two points on sale of 2000 shares, was the only leader to appear.

Ohio Sets Up Huge Demo Win

Roosevelt won in the 1932 or 1944 campaigns.

Dewey's statement was read by James C. Hagerty, his press secretary. It was a telegram to President Truman at Kansas City. It read:

"My heartiest congratulations to you on your election and every good wish for a successful administration."

"I urge all Americans to unite behind you in every effort to keep our nation strong and free and to establish peace in the world."

It was when Dewey learned of Truman's impending success in Ohio that he sent the telegram of congratulations to the President.

Dewey made it public probably before it reached the President. Truman was in line, too, to win California, having taken a slight lead in the West Coast state during the late morning hours.

With California also in his camp, Truman will carry 27 states with 229 electoral votes.

It was one of the strangest elections in American history and the outcome, one of the most surprising—especially to politicians.

For hours after balloting closed, the outcome remained in doubt. Election officials closed up shop during the night, went home for sleep and came back this morning to resume their counting, before the result became known.

DURING the night and even this morning, the lead changed hands several times.

Once Dewey appeared almost certain to win, having leads in Ohio, Illinois and California at the same time. Then, one by one, his leads slipped away to oblivion.

Illinois was the first to desert him and the President probably will carry it by better than 50,000. But it was Ohio which dealt Dewey the knockout.

The outcome of the election will be talked about for years. Every prominent political writer and commentator in Washington and New York were as one in their solemn judgment that Truman could not win the election.

Only the "little fellow", as Mr. Truman is called affectionately by his friends in Washington, said he would win. The President said it time and again. His usual words were:

"I am going to win this election. I can see it by your smiling faces." And he did. Boy, was he right.

Tarleton village voted down a dry issue by an unofficial count of 106 to 62 in the Tuesday national elections.

Tarleton voters were handed an additional ballot in the elections relative to maintaining C and D permits in the village, along with five separate option questions.

Each of the options unofficially carried toward the wet side of the controversy. In order the unofficial balloting was listed as follows: 1—81 for, 66 against; 2—81 for, 63 against; 3—81 for, 63 against; 4—76 for, 69 against; and 5—78 for, 65 against.

Wayne Township school levy was believed passed with little opposition also, when an unofficial 134 positive tickets were tallied while only 38 ballots contrary to the issue were counted.

Last of the school issues which appeared strong enough for passage was the Pickaway Township school levy, boasting an unofficial count of 181 favorable ballots and opposed by but 96 votes.

Harrison Township school levy was believed to have swept through to uncontested passage according to unofficial count, when a total of 180 favorable slips were tallied as compared to 30 negative votes.

In conceding defeat, Robbins said he knew of no reason other than the Democratic trend. He declared:

"I guess it's just politics."

In all probability, Robbins will return to private law practice turning the office over to Tuesday's winner. A native of Vinton County, he has practiced about eight years.

Following is a breakdown on unofficial votes cast in the county race for office:

Democrats — Sheriff Charles Radcliff—6,659; Recorder Florence T. Campbell—6,261; Treasurer Robert G. Colville—6,390; Engineer Henry T. McCrady—6,255; and Republican Coroner Lloyd Jones—3,221.

Does Stomach Gas and Bloat Make You Feel Miserable?

If so, here is how you may get blessed relief in freeing your stomach from this nervous distress. It works this way: Everytime food enters the stomach, a vital gastric juice must flow normally to break-up certain food particles; else the food may ferment. Sour food, acid indigestion and gas frequently cause a morbid, touchy, fretful, peevish, nervous condition, loss of appetite, underweight, restlessness, sleep, weakness.

To get real relief you must increase the flow of this vital gastric juice. Medical authorities, in independent laboratory tests on human stomachs, have by positive proof shown that SSS Tonic is amazingly effective in increasing the flow when it is too little or scanty due to a non-organic stomach disturbance. This is due to the SSS Tonic formula which contains special and potent activating ingredients.

Also, SSS Tonic helps build-up non-organic, weak, watery blood in nutritional anemia—so with a good flow of this gastric digestive juice, plus rich red blood you should eat better, sleep better, feel better, work better, play better. Avoid punishing yourself with over-doses of soda and other alkalis to counteract gas and bloating when what you so dearly need is SSS Tonic to help you digest food for body strength and repair. Don't wait! Join the host of happy people SSS Tonic has helped. Millions of bottles sold. Get a bottle of SSS Tonic from your drug store today. SSS Tonic helps Build Sturdy Health.

Fluorescent Lamps Used Aid Plants

Growth Helped In Experiment

For three years the floriculture division of the Department of Horticulture at the Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station in Wooster has been experimenting with the use of fluorescent lamps as a possible light source for the growth of cuttings and seedlings under "basement greenhouse" conditions.

The so-called "basement greenhouse," says R. F. Hasek in reporting experimental results, is any structure similar to a root cellar, well insulated, or a basement under the home, where little or no sunlight reaches and an even temperature of 60-65 degrees is maintained.

Fluorescent lamps of the F40-T12 type were used in a wide variety of colors. These were placed in reflectors approximately 18 to 24 inches above the cutting bench.

Softwood cuttings of both outdoor and indoor plants rooted best in sand when the color of the lamps in the light source was either white or daylight.

Gold, blue or red lamps had to be placed much closer to the tops of the cuttings in order to give equal light intensity at the surface of the plant.

The nearness of the lamps in this instance caused the plant tissues to dry out due to the accompanying increase in air temperature with the result that many species rooted poorly. Various species of Viburnum, Fontanella, Actinidia, Syringa and Rosa were used in the tests.

SEEDLINGS of twenty species of annual flowering plants were grown under conditions of light and heat similar to those above.

There was no apparent effect of the lights on the percentage of germination but the seedlings under white or blue lights were generally more "stocky" and better than those under other types of light.

Red or gold light sources produced plants which were spindly and weak. In later stages of growth these plants were much shorter than similar plants grown under higher light intensities.

This method of growing plants might be suitable for small scale or amateur work, Hasek states, but for commercial installation it does not appear to be feasible at the present time.

LEGISLATORS' BILLS

THE New Jersey legislature is in a low frame of mind. The state attorney-general has put a stop to the long prevailing practice whereby lawmakers, while in legislative session, charged their meals and hotel accommodations to the state. This, as Attorney-General Walter D. Van Riper says, is clearly in violation of the constitutional provision requiring legislators' salaries to be fixed by law and permitting "no other allowance or emolument, directly or indirectly."

Until the State Taxpayers Association stirred up the matter, the lawmakers had run up substantial bills. The state seems to be stuck, as many of the tabs were unsigned.

It was a good life while it lasted, but it does not enhance the reputation of legislative bodies.

ERROR OF MUSSOLINI

DICTATORS can often safely invade people's liberties, but it is dangerous to interfere with their habits. Thus one reason for the downfall of Italian Fascism, according to "The Fall of Mussolini," a new book by a refugee from Fascism, Max Ascoli, who fled to the United States, was that Mussolini imposed one-way traffic for pedestrians in the chief streets of Rome.

The Romans resented having to walk in the hot summer months on the sunny side of the street. Yet Mussolini insisted that he would look out of his windows to make sure that no one was strolling on the wrong side of the street.

"Drive with an easy rein" is one lesson that autocrats need to learn. They either learn it, or else—

CARE FOR CATS

A SPECIAL ward for sick cats is to be set up in an Elizabeth, N. J., veterinary hospital. The late Miss Elizabeth Shepherd, a cat fancier, has just left $10,000 for that purpose.

Dogs seem to get more bequests and more attention generally than cats. Yet cats have their merits, too. Graceful, mysterious and affectionate, they reward the owner who cares for them. Unfortunately not all communities are so well equipped to look after their ailments as Elizabeth will be through this praiseworthy bequest.

All our troubles with Stalin would have been avoided, says the British Lord Hampden, if he had been a Boy Scout and learned their code of conduct. A good many surprising things have happened in the last few years, but nothing so staggering to the imagination as the thought of Stalin as a Boy Scout.

It is a sad truth that fire, one of the greatest human blessings, is also so often one of the greatest destroyers.

George E. Sokolsky's

These Days

When General Feng Yu-Hsiang was in the United States, he was welcomed by many Americans as a wonderful man, a Christian general, a liberal, I, who had known him since 1919, did not believe or trust the man because I knew beyond doubt that as far back as 1925, he was a tool of Soviet Russia.

Well, here is a letter which he sent to General Li Chih-Shen in Hongkong. This letter has been released by the revolutionary committee in Hongkong. It is worth knowing what such a "friend" of America could write about this country which gave him refuge here. Let me quote:

"From my observation, the United States is taking the first step toward fascism. They oppress Negroes whom they can kill at will and with no questions asked. They oppress liberal elements whom they arrest and indict at will. They do not treat Jews, Indians and Chinese as human beings. The big-shot capitalists control 98 percent of American newspapers and use as their own tools 99 percent of American magazines and publications. We do not see one sentence of truth in these publications. All the pages are full of rumors and lies slandering the farmers and laborers. There was a big flood in ten states and nobody bothered about it. There are at least 20,000,000 people in the United States without housing. For example, New York has a kind of flop houses where a man can sleep for three hours on the floor by paying a quarter. After the three-hour time limit he is thrown out.

"There are 30 universities in the United States which are opposed to the policy of aiding Chiang. But there are a few rotten eggs in the Congress who have become foster sons of Chiang Kai-Shek. They insist that America must aid Chiang. To aid Chiang is actually to expand the territory of the United States.

"Everyday we read in American newspapers reports of sons murdering fathers, daughters murdering mothers, wives murdering husbands. There was a father who shot his wife and three children and then killed himself. There was another story about some people raping a girl student and then shooting her. I made a careful count of these reports and found that in average, there are, on each day, at least two cases of murdering fathers, four cases of murdering mothers, eight cases of wives murdering husbands, ten cases of husbands murdering wives, and two cases of suicides by jumping from eight-story buildings. Such abnormalities in human relations are entirely ignored by the American Congress, government and society, as if they are not aware of such things.

This was written on Aug. 12, 1948. It is the America in which you live that he described in this letter. Feng Yu-Hsiang was then on a Russian ship in the Mediterranean on his way to the Marxist shrine in Moscow. He hoped to be set up as the ruler of the new state which the Russians are carving out of Manchuria and North China. But he is reported to have been burned to death on the ship. Some in China doubt that and expect him to show up in Manchuria at the right time. I do not pretend to know what is the truth of his death. The Russians are so secretive.

DIET AND HEALTH

A Serious Infant Disorder

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

EVERY parent of a baby under a year old should learn something of the symptoms of an abdominal disorder called intussusception, which sometimes develops in infants. This is one of the conditions which brooks no delay. When it is present, the penalty for failure to recognize that something is seriously amiss may be the loss of the baby.

I am not, of course, suggesting that parents should attempt to diagnose the condition—only that they learn enough about its symptoms to call the doctor immediately should any of them be observed.

Develops Suddenly

Perhaps the most useful thing that parents can remember in this regard is that intussusception develops suddenly. A baby that has been previously healthy is seized by violent spasms of pain which may last for a few seconds to a few minutes, and which recur at about half-hour intervals.

In over half the cases, this type of pain is the first sign of the disease. Vomiting is another common symptom. The passage of blood from the bowels is not necessarily an early sign, but occurs in practically all cases sooner or later.

During the first day, for instance, the bowel movements may be absent or appear normal, but then they become liquid and bloody; the baby becomes pale, has a rapid heartbeat, sunken eyes, and fever. A swelling within the abdomen is present in about nine out of ten cases. The area around the swelling is tender, and the mass has the feel of a sausage.

X-rays are frequently of value in establishing a diagnosis. The age of the baby may also give a diagnostic clue as intussusception rarely occurs before a child is six weeks old or after 18 months.

Prompt Operation

Treatment in all cases is prompt operation. Prior to operation, it is usually advisable to give the baby an injection of whole blood into a vein or blood plasma. Salt solution may also be administered under the skin.

Following operation, it is also important to give the baby plenty of fluids by injection under the skin or into a vein. It is important to note that in this disorder, when operation is performed within 24 hours, the outlook is at least three or four times as good as when the operation is delayed for a day or two. The important thing to remember about this condition is that the earlier it is treated the better is the outlook, and the chief reason for failure of early treatment is the fact that the disorder is not recognized as early as it should be. If there is any indication of intussusception, there should be no delay in calling the doctor.

But if you can add a bit of safety, like a cook who adds a pinch of salt to the recipe, it may prove worth while. MARRY FOR MONEY

CHAPTER FORTY

"LET EVANS assume the responsibility, and take it a step at a time, dear," Brad went on. "We'll talk it over when I return. Meanwhile I'll get hold of Evans." He added, "What a stroke of luck that it should have been Sam who found him," and Gail laughed and he asked sharply, "Are you laughing, Gail?"

"I suppose so," she gasped, "or else I'm having hysterics. Don't worry, Brad, too much."

The ambulance came and Morrison Rogers departed. Alexandria kept to her room and sent for her own physician. She had had, she said, a shock; she was tired and wished to rest. Millicent stayed with her, reading aloud, measuring drops, coaxing her to eat from a tray, emerging only to order her own trays, and leaving Gail to have her meals alone. Andrews was the only comforting voice in the house, reassuring Gail, that she was not to fret, that everything would be all right.

On the third day Gail went to the hospital in which her father was recovering. She had expected Brad in, but his plane had been grounded the night before because of weather. So she went alone, bracing herself for the encounter. She found Rogers looking white, thin and drawn, but with clear eyes. He was shaved, and neat, and quite unregarded.

He said, as the nurse left the room, "I suppose I'm to thank you?"

"Not necessarily."

"I don't remember a great deal, but any gutter would be more amusing than this place." He shivered. "So now I'm to go back to the gutter?" he inquired.

"Why did you break your word?"

"Did I give it? Oh, I signed a paper but better men than I have signed papers. . . . I grumbled at her, dimly. "Gail, a little money is worse than none."

"A hundred dollars a week is not a little money. Men support families on that amount, and not as many men would like to—"

"All very true," he conceded, "but for me it's either too little or too much. When I have nothing I expect nothing. I live by my wits, a feast today, tomorrow famine. But when I have a little, or a hundred a week, I want more. . . . I begrudge the necessity for keeping up appearances, a decent roof, respectable clothes, three meals a day; a man on a hundred a week is expected to have these things but he has to pay for them and there's not enough left over for amusement. Well, the agreement's gone by the board. . . . I'll get along on my own. . . . as far as your worthy husband is concerned. And no hard feelings. But how about you? We could make an agreement. I dare say he's settled something on you or that you have a handsome allowance. Lump sums, one's gone, then another. I might not need a retreat for weeks. . . . I might need it day after tomorrow."

"I don't mean to," said Gail unhappily.

"I don't blame you," her father said. "There's no reason why you should yearn over me, or I over you, for that matter. I don't enjoy this situation nor do I like what's happened to me in the last few days. Make the arrangements, Spencer. . . . He closed his eyes. "I think I'd like to sleep, if you don't mind," he said.

They returned to the house and

"No," she said steadily. "I remember a little," he said. "That wasn't the first time you'd been in that apartment, nor the first time you'd cried in my good Samaritan's arms." He laughed. "Sam," he said. "I remember that now. Samaritan. Not bad."

"Brad knows all about Sam Meredith."

"Does he, indeed? Perhaps I'll be able to add to his knowledge."

Brad walked in, without knocking. He asked, "Whose knowledge?"

Gail rose. Her hands were shaking. She looked then, one within the other. She said, "Go on, answer him."

"I'll leave that to you," said Rogers.

"She doesn't have to," said Brad pleasantly. He put his arm around Gail and kissed her cheek. He said, "Sit down, and we'll talk this over."

"I am purged," said Rogers, "figuratively and literally, I am weak, physically and morally. At the moment I am willing to take the pledge. But the moment never lasts. What do you propose doing with me?"

"Dr. Evans thinks you can be cured," Brad said.

"How optimistic. And suppose I don't want to be?"

"It would then be a waste of a physician's time and my money to try," Brad agreed.

"And if I say I would like to be myself again. . . . or the self I dimly remember?" Rogers asked cautiously.

"Dr. Evans has a friend," said Brad, "who is chief of staff of an extremely good sanitarium, in California. You would go there, when you are able to travel with your nurse. When you are well again, you may choose your own place of residence—here," he said casually, "or the West, anywhere you wish. It seems to me that you would then be able not only to live on, and up to, the terms of our agreement but you might even find something with which to occupy your time."

"A dreary prospect," said Rogers. "I'm a periodic drunkard, you know," he added carelessly. "I have my ups and downs. Your suggestion sounds like the strait and narrow path, also very level, difficult for one of my temperament. To become a sober, useful citizen at my age is a somewhat gruesome prospect. But I see no other way out," he said mildly, "as I can intimidate neither of you."

He held out his hand. He said, "I like you, Spencer, rather more than I like my daughter. She frightens me a little."

"I don't mean to," said Gail unhappily.

"I don't blame you," her father said. "There's no reason why you should yearn over me, or I over you, for that matter. I don't enjoy this situation nor do I like what's happened to me in the last few days. Make the arrangements, Spencer. . . . He closed his eyes. "I think I'd like to sleep, if you don't mind," he said.

They returned to the house and

IT'S BEEN SAID

An idle brain is the devil's workshop.—English Proverb.

YOUR FUTURE

Financial matters should be attended to at this time and improvements made. Creative pursuits and sociability should also be on your program. It will be well to keep your eye on your finances all during your next year. Also be tactful, discreet and circumspect in all your dealings. The day gives outstanding artistic and musical abilities, but the emotions and judgment should be wisely trained.

MODERN MANNERS

When there is only one bathroom in a home and several persons to use it, it is inexcusable to monopolize the room without regard to the rights of others.

South's last bid there, the 5-Hearts, was a beauty. It made clear to North the fact that he had rebiddable hearts, at least five of them, and more diamonds, since he had bid them first. It also constituted an infernal absolute force to small slam in one suit or the other, since if North preferred the diamonds he would have to bid six to overcall the 5-Hearts. Of course, if North, who had shown the two black suits, had the strength to favor

No Trumps, he was forced to put the slam into that, and with enough power might go to grand slam in whatever declaration seemed best. When he picked the 6-Diamonds, he made the wisest choice.

South should have made the contract, but was too lazy. He won the club 7 lead with the A, scored the diamond A and

JOBS UPON A TIME

Virginia Mayo (real name Virginia Smith) was born in St. Louis and received her stage training from her aunt when she was a child. Virginia danced with the St. Louis Municipal Opera company after her graduation from high school, then toured the United States in a vaudeville act, climaxed by a place in Billy Rose's Diamond Horseshoe. Her next role was on the New York stage in Banjo Eyes. One of Virginia's first pictures was Salute to the Marines, and two recent ones are Walter Mitty and Out of the Blue.

Erskine Caldwell, well-known writer, was born at White Oak, Ga., studied at Erskine college, the University of Virginia and the University of Pennsylvania. Caldwell well was successively a newspaper writer, cotton picker, stage hand, professional football player, book reviewer, lecturer, editor and Hollywood film writer. Caldwell was also correspondent in Mexico, Spain, Czechoslovakia, and Russia. Some of his books: Tobacco Road, God's Little Acre, Kneel to the Rising Sun and, his latest, A House in the Uplands.

IT HAPPENED TODAY
The first observance of Thanksgiving Day was begun on Nov. 3, 1621, at Plymouth, and closed with a state dinner two days later. The republic of Panama declared its independence on this date in 1903. William Cullen Bryant, first distinctive American poet, was born on Nov. 3, 1794.

Inside WASHINGTON

Hush-Hush Atmosphere. KG-12, a Super Food, Developed by Norsemen

SPECIAL TO CENTRAL PRESS
WASHINGTON—During the tense talks with Moscow over the Berlin crisis, the press, and, consequently, the public, probably were less informed than at any time since the "top secret" days of the war.

To avoid any tipoff on the identity of persons consulted by the high policy makers, few important men were called to the State department during the day. Instead, there were private meetings at night at a rendezvous remote from the State department building.

Often there were top level meetings at the Blair House, where distinguished guests of the White House are entertained. These usually occurred at cocktail time or dinner time.

However, there were some slippings. On Saturday morning, when the department is normally closed, Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg (R), Michigan, GOP foreign policy leader, was called in for a two-hour consultation. He was not mentioned on Secretary Marshall's calling list, but his presence was revealed by the fact that he rides in the automobile historically assigned to the vice president. It has always borne the license number DC 111.

Even when the car was discovered in front of the building, the department refused to acknowledge Vandenberg's presence. However, reporters caught him as he left.

Another important figure whose presence can always be detected is British Ambassador Sir Oliver Franks. Franks travels in Washington's pluriest limousine, a postwar British Rolls-Royce. Often it is seen parked outside of Blair House on an evening, as prominent as a billboard.

35 Per Cent Difference In Opinion

● SUPER-FOOD—After years of experimenting, Norwegian scientists have come up with a new emergency food said to be superior to any used in World War II. The new food, to be known as KG-12, is in liquid form, thus overcoming a major shortcoming of previous emergency rations—lack of liquid.

Norwegian soldiers recently went through 14 days of training with KG-12 as their only source of nourishment with no ill effects.

Early in September four human guinea pigs were put out in the middle of Oslo fjord, where they spent five days aboard two rubber life rafts. Two men were given KG-12; the other two were given an equal amount of the best of the standard emergency foods. The scientists reported:

"At the end of three days, the last named had only a few food tablets and very little water left, while the KG-12 pair still had supplies for many days, and showed no signs of fatigue."

● POLL TRICKS—The State department has recently had a private polling agency make a cross-section check on American reactions to foreign policy problems. These reactions have figured in setting the nation's policy.

Now, however, probably for the first time, the department has checked into the validity of the polls themselves. One test problem involved the question of the free exchange of news between the Iron Curtain areas and the outside world.

To test the polling technique, the question was presented in two ways. A group of 1,250 individuals of similar backgrounds were asked this question: Should representatives of newspapers in the USSR be allowed to enter the United States and present all news freely? Only 34 per cent of those questioned answered yes.

A similar group of Americans was asked this question: Should American correspondents be permitted to represent the news freely from the USSR; and should Communist correspondents be allowed to report freely from the United States? Eighty per cent thought American correspondents in Russia should be allowed to report freely and 69 per cent thought the Communist press should have the same privilege in the United States.

Thus there was a 35 per cent difference in the poll results on the basic question: Should Communist reporters be allowed full freedom in this country?

Mistletoe Ball Booked
For Dec. 29; Coliseum
To Be Site Of Affair

Kiwanis Club
Is Sponsor

Plans are being made to make the 1948 Mistletoe Ball "the" outstanding social event of the year.

In previous years, Circleville Memorial Hall has been the scene of the affair which is sponsored by Circleville Kiwanis Club to raise money for its underprivileged children's fund.

The Fairgrounds Coliseum has been secured for this year's party and elaborate arrangements are being made to make it not only successful but also a place where good clean fun may be had. The committee in charge has asked that bottles be omitted.

Wednesday evening, Dec. 29, has been set as the date for the grand affair. A 10-piece orchestra with vocalists will be retained to provide music for dancing between the hours of 10 p.m. and 2 a.m. Efforts are being made to secure Chuck Selby's orchestra.

Dress for the affair, the committee says, will be optional but in the past it has been one of the few public occasions when formal clothes may be worn in Pickaway County.

Karl Johnson will act as chairman for the sponsors and he will be assisted by Vernon Hawkes, W. Joe Burns, William Ammer, Truman Eberly, Burtus C. Bennett and Elliott Barnhill.

Two members of this group will be in charge of decorating, two others will have charge of the ticket sale and two more will handle advertising. They announced that the sale of tickets will be limited to 500 couples.

Miss Hamilton
Is Hostess

Miss Marie L. Hamilton was hostess to members of Friendship Club in her home, West High street, Tuesday evening.

The hostess entertained her guests with contests and colored pictures of her vacation trip through Kentucky, Virginia and South Carolina.

Miss Ollie Sockrider assisted Miss Hamilton in serving refreshments to the guests.

The next meeting will be a Christmas party which will be held at the home of Mrs. Fred Duncan, Pinckney street, Dec. 7.

Personals

The meeting of Group A of the Presbyterian church, which was scheduled for Thursday afternoon at the church, has been postponed. Notice of another date will be announced later.

Misses Rosemary and Pearl Green of Amanda, Miss Helen Pontius of Pickaway Township and Ray Young of Columbus attended the Columbus Ice Carnival Sunday.

Members of Presbyterian church orchestra will meet at 5:30 p. m. Thursday for supper in the social rooms of the church. Rehearsal will be held following the supper.

The first ice cream soda was served by Dolly Madison in the White House in 1813. Since that time ice cream has so increased in popularity that last year alone more than 700 million gallons were consumed in the United States.

Saltcreek Valley
Grange Elects
New Officers

At the Saltcreek Valley Grange meeting Tuesday evening, election of officers resulted in Russell Anderson being chosen worthy master.

Donna Beougher was named juvenile matron; Jeanette Armstrong, assistant matron; Wayne Luckhart, overseer; Mrs. George Jury, lecturer; Glen McDaniel, steward; Billy Rihl, assistant steward; Grace Anderson, chaplain; Arley Judy treasurer; Robert DeLong, secretary; Judson Beougher, gatekeeper; Alma Miller, Ceres; Joan Bowsher, Pomona; Jeanne Maxson, Flora; Kathryn Whisler, lady assistant; Nellie Mowery, pianist; and Miss Gift Macklin, legislative agent.

The secretary reported $115 as the Grange share from the Junior Fair. On Nov. 9, the third and fourth degree teams will confer work on five candidates. The Grange will put on the traveling program at the Saltcreek school on Nov. 16.

December committee will consist of Billy Rihl, Wayne Cryder, Maurice Jury, Max and David Luckhart, Francis Fraun-

Inspection Held
By DUV Here In Memorial Hall

Annual inspection and the regular meeting of Daughters of Union Veterans of the Civil War were held Tuesday evening in the Post Room, Memorial Hall, with Mrs. Anna Edwards, Columbus, past department president of Ohio, inspecting the ritualistic work.

Miss Fay Hasson, daughter of Mrs. Edwards, a past department secretary who is now serving as junior vice-president of Lucy Webb Hayes Tent 49, Columbus, was a visitor. Tent 49 is the "mother" of the local tent. Mrs. Irene Jenkins, president of the local tent, presided at the meeting.

At the close of the ritualistic work, refreshments were served from a lace-covered table by the social committee composed of Mrs. Cora Coffland, Mrs. Frank Webbe, Mrs. H. G. Bausum, Mrs. James Carpenter, Miss Ada Hammel, Mrs. E. L. Tolbert was responsible for the decorations. In the center of the table, a candelabra contained lighted green tapers. Large bowls of chrysanthemums were placed at each end of the table. Pumpkin faces also decorated the table and small candy pumpkins were favors.

Logan Elm Grange
Names Graves As Newest Master

Frank Graves was chosen master of Logan Elm Grange at election of officers of that organization Tuesday evening.

Others elected at that time were Hoyt Timmons, overseer; Mrs. Donald Miller, lecturer; Philip Wilson, steward; Virgil Timmons, assistant steward; The Rev. Sam C. Elsea, chaplain; Neil Leist, treasurer; Harold Alkire, gatekeeper; Ursel Graves, secretary; Nettie Wilson, Ceres; Janet Wilson, Pomona; Dorothy Vandervort, Flora; Mrs. Curtis Bower, lady assistant; Miss Ruth McKenzie, pianist; Mrs. Fairy Alkire, juvenile matron; Dr. Wells Wilson, legislative agent; and Otis Leist, executive agent.

felter, Dick Reichelderfer, Phyllis Anderson, Dwight Recker, Jr., Donald Strous, Virginia Sells, Robert DeLong, the Wolf and Bowsher children.

Mrs. J. L. Reichelderfer was appointed chairman of the Home Economics committee.

Bess Truman May Be
Lame Duck First Lady

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3.—Bess Truman may end up as the first Lame Duck First Lady in the nation's history.

Results of the balloting at the polls yesterday may mean that the United States will change White House hostesses in the middle of a social season for the very first time.

It is the first time such a situation has materialized since the presidential inauguration date was changed by constitutional amendment in 1933 from March 4 to Jan. 20.

And it is precisely the sort of delicate problem in protocol which makes the State Department boys chew their fingernails off to the elbow.

The White House usually announces the schedule for its official social season in mid-October or early November. The dinners and receptions are spaced over the three-month period from late November to late February.

Obviously, however, Mrs. Truman cannot make engagements for Mrs. Dewey—is she is the next First Lady.

And, just as obviously, Mrs.

Officers Named
By Presbyterian
Church Group

Election of officers for Westminster Bible Class of Circleville Presbyterian church was held Tuesday evening at the regular meeting held in the home of Mrs. Orin Dreisbach, West Mound street.

Miss Katherine Leist was elected president; Miss Mary Hulise, vice-president; Miss Alda Bartley, secretary; Miss Winifred Pargett, treasurer; Mrs. W. L. Mack, publicity chairman.

Assisting Mrs. Dreisbach were Mrs. Donald Mitchell, Miss Mary Heffner, Mrs. Arthur Steele and Mrs. Charles Smith. Rev. Mr. Mitchell entertained the group with pictures and colored slides of his travels, explaining them as they were shown.

The next meeting will be held Dec. 7 at the home of Miss Alda Bartley, South Court street, and will be a Christmas party at which time gifts will be exchanged and collected for inmates of the Pickaway County infirmary. The group also voted to purchase a number of waste-paper baskets for Berger hospital.

Ordinances OK'd To Hike City Wages

Police, Hospital Funds Benefit

Two ordinances were passed Tuesday night by Circleville city council and a third was granted a second two-week extension pending further investigation by the Berger hospital committee.

Council appropriated $1,500 from the general fund to the police salary fund to cover overtime expenses for the remainder of the year.

Robert Adkins explained that overtime during the Pumpkin Show made "quite a dent" in the fund and that more money was needed immediately to meet salaries in the police department. The ordinance passed 6-0.

On second reading, council passed 6-0 a bill to transfer $8,600 from the hospital fund to salary, fuel and light and office supply funds.

THE ORDINANCE sets aside $7,500 to pay salaries; $500 for fuel and light and $500 for office supplies for the remainder of the year.

This measure does not necessitate appropriating money from the general fund because the money was earmarked in this year's budget and so means only a transfer, Adkins stated.

Council decided to continue its study of the pay raise demands by three nurses at Berger hospital in the hospital committee.

If the wage demands are met by council, in all probability four classifications at the hospital will be affected, councilmen pointed out.

They are the superintendent who now is receiving $215; two registered nurses who are being paid $170 on the day shift and $160 on the night shift; and the technician whose pay is $175 per month.

Before taking any definite action, council agreed it best to study whether the increases might lead to another overall pay increase for all employees at the hospital.

Earlier this year, pay raises were granted to hospital workers ranging on the average from $5 to $15 per month, a council spokesman pointed out.

AN ORDINANCE for extension of sanitary sewers on East Ohio street will come up for a vote at the next council meeting.

Solicitor George Gerhardt was directed by council to draw up a bill to that effect for next session's action.

Service Director Joe Rooney was asked to check the possibility of synchronizing traffic lights on Pickaway street at Main, Franklin and Mound streets.

Rooney explained that it would require installing new timing discs in the lights and that he would look into the matter.

Educators Stall Action On New School Building

Circleville board of education tabled further action on the proposed new northend building program Tuesday pending additional surveys.

The board as a whole is to attend a conference on school building problems sponsored by Ohio State university Monday.

The program is presented in cooperation with the Architect's Society of Ohio State Department of Education, Ohio Association of School Administrators, Ohio Education Association and Ohio Public School Business Officials.

Board members plan to hear "Trends in Building Materials, Design and Costs," relative to Circleville problems.

Renegotiations on an extension of the option for Zwicker estate lands South of Northridge road are still pending.

Delay Granted In Court Case

Pickaway County common pleas court postponed a 10-day jail sentence for Milo K. Beavers when it found him guilty of contempt of court in a support hearing.

In a previous court order, Beavers was to pay his wife, Katherine L. Beavers the sum of $40 per month for their two children.

However, Judge William D. Radcliff found Beavers to be in arrears $126.30 of which he still owes $6.30 and unless he pays up, Beavers will go to jail.

Fire Policy Revision Is Urged

Council Told Come Up To Date

Circleville city council was advised Tuesday night to bring up to date its insurance on city-owned property to meet increased costs of material and labor which would be needed in an emergency.

Lawrence Johnson spokesman for agents holding policies for the city, said the new program would amount to an increase of $93,250 in blanket coverage.

Policies on city property came up for renewal Oct. 1, but the property is covered to date, Johnson explained.

Councilmen assured Johnson it would appropriate sufficient money at the next meeting to cover the new policy or at least meet premiums under the present insurance plan.

Under the present program, all city property is covered up to $221,750. New coverage would increase that figure to $315,000, Johnson explained.

AT THE OUTSET, the new plan would cost the city approximately $975 annually, but next year the premium would be reduced to approximately $300, the agent stated.

What the new premiums will be must be determined by the Ohio Inspection Bureau. If these figures do not meet with council's approval at next meeting, it reserves the right to retain its old policy schedule.

Meanwhile, the city's financial report for the last two weeks was deferred as requested by Robert Adkins.

He said City Auditor Lillian Young was ill and was unable to draw up the report in time for the meeting.

Illness and the election caused a change of seats among councilmen Tuesday night. President Pro-tem Ray Cook presided in the absence of President Luther Bower who is recuperating in his home.

Council Clerk Fred Nicholas is serving as a poll worker and his post was filled by Solicitor George Gerhardt. Councilman E. L. Montgomery was absent from the meeting.

Arcaro Says Citation Is Very Best

Jockey Admits Control Is Hard

NEW YORK, Nov. 3.—This is what Jockey Eddie Arcaro is talking about in this paragraph to the end of the column.

Citation is the greatest race horse that ever stepped on a race track. The public can't know as a jockey how good this horse is because they see him only as another horse on the run, and not from the saddle.

For all I know I've been on 5,000 horses since I started riding and I've been on the best of them.

But there has never been a horse in my time to compare with this one. What many people don't realize is that they don't see him at real tops. He is trained just well enough to win a given race.

If Jimmy Jones wanted to tighten him up for every start he would break all the records, but as he says:

"I train my horses easily and always point for a given race. This will get you beat, but I will have a horse running for me longer than somebody else."

IF CITATION had been tight for the Pimlico Special last Friday and had any competition he would have broken every record in the book.

I couldn't hold him. I am strong-armed as any rider will tell you, but when I got through that race my arms were stiff from trying to hold him.

He is the only horse I ever saw who can take the lead or come from behind and lose the lead and come on again. He can do it on any kind of track.

Citation can run in mud or he can go on a dance floor. He is the toughest, the best and the greatest horse this country has ever seen.

I can't speak for Europe. I haven't ridden over there but I will ride him against their best and gamble I'll win.

When I begin riding again at Santa Anita late in December I hope they make a match race between Citation and Shannon II, which has been breaking records and winning stakes on the coast.

I hope they make that match. Citation will be tightened up for such a race and the people who see it will see the greatest runner of these times and probably will see records fall.

It is almost impossible to make him run easily. He takes hold of the bit and starts flying. From there on it is a question of judging the pace and he doesn't run himself out immediately—if this is possible.

He runs the last part of a race as fast and as strong as he does the first and he always wins going way.

Title Eyes Browns Tilt

CLEVELAND, Nov. 3.—Y. A. Tittle, quarterback for the Baltimore Colts who sparked his mates to victory over the All-America Conference champs in a pre-season game, will be gunning to repeat this feat when the two clubs collide Sunday in Cleveland Stadium.

Tittle, a former member of the Browns, has led the Colts, who last year occupied the cellar of the All-America Conference, to a tie for the eastern division of the AAC.

Although he suffered a sprained ankle in a game with Buffalo, Tittle is expected to see action when the Browns and Colts tangle Sunday.

The Browns, on the other hand, will be gunning for their ninth straight victory this season.

13-Year-Old Back In School, But He'd Rather Be In Sulky

WILLIAMSBURG, Nov. 3.—Richard Standriff, 13-year-old harness race driver, has returned to his school books here but he dreams of the day—possibly next Summer—when he will match his driving ability against the likes of "Sep" Palin, Franklin Stafford and Dr. Hugh M. Parshall on the Grand Circuit.

Yes, Richard is only 13—he's the youngest driver registered with the United States Trotting Association and he's probably the standard-bred sport's youngest reins expert.

Richard made his debut as a driver last July 4 and proceeded to pilot his father's pacer, Chestnut Time, in the money on eight straight occasions. The youngster won his first race at Falmouth, Ky., in mid-August.

Dick says he gives no favors and expects none from rival drivers, many of whom are four times his age. He explains:

"The older, experienced drivers don't worry me. I am nervous before we leave the stable but once I climb aboard the sulky, I am OK. Once the race is on, I have my hands full and don't have time to think about anything else but winning."

Dick says:

"I want to drive as long as I can but I plan to go to school and become a veterinarian."

If Dick accomplishes his purpose, he will follow in the footsteps of the famed Dr. Hugh M. Parshall, of Urbana, who combines his practice with his harness racing.

ness horse driving and training. For several years, Dr. Parshall was the nation's No. 1 driver.

FOR A SELFISH reason, young Standriff likes night racing—it gives him a chance to drive while attending school. During the recent night meeting at nearby Lebanon, O., Dick would rush home from school in the afternoon, grab a hasty supper, prepare his lessons for the next day and then be off to the races—in his dad's car.

Young Standriff possibly inherits much of his sulky acumen. His grandfather, James Standriff, and his father, George, preceded him in the ancient sport. Now, the father trains the stable—leaving the driving to his son.

Of Dick's driving, his dad comments:

"Chestnut Time is not the easiest horse in the world to handle but Dick does a better job than some of the really fine men I have had in the sulky. I have seen the horse cause the driver a lot of trouble and I have seen him rear—but my boy seems to have the touch. Chestnut Time is mild-mannered when Dick is holding the reins. The horse seems to sense he's in the sulky."

The dad recalled that Richard, although only 13, has been learning about horses for seven years. And you thought that harness racing was an old man's game!

Even The Buyer Has Trouble In Valuing Nag

LOUISVILLE, Nov. 3.—It would appear from a squabble now in Louisville police court that people who buy race horses have as much trouble judging their running qualities as people who bet on them.

At least, Andrew Guttman, of Cleveland, says he didn't know what he was getting when he bought a nag called Big Boss for $650.

Guttman, a war veteran who claims he spent his last dime (part of the $650) on Big Boss, would like to sell Big Boss again and thinks that an 80-year-old man who sold him the horse should be made to buy him back.

Selling Big Boss as a race horse allegedly "sound" is what Guttman calls in a warrant "obtaining money under false pretenses."

According to the present owner, Big Boss works out all right but when he stops running, he is so lame that he has to be "helped from the track."

The trainer who sold the horse, William Brazelton, furnished $600 bond to await a hearing Thursday. His employer, H. W. Schmidt, commented that Big Boss is hard to beat "at a smile and a half."

7th Columbus Hunter Faces 'Squire Here

It appeared this week that state game protectors in Pickaway County had declared open season on Columbus duck hunters who have been violating the fish and game laws in this area.

Seventh victim since Saturday was 25-year-old Dwight Rife who mixed his breadtruck-driving with fowl hunting. Rife pleaded guilty when brought before Squire Oscar Root and was fined a total $30 for hunting ducks after hours and stalking game with a repeating shotgun.

Indians Set Training Site

CLEVELAND, Nov. 3.—The Cleveland Indians announced today that they will have one location instead of two for the training of their eastern farm club next season.

The Tribe's activities will be centered around one spot, probably Marianna, Fla., or Myrtle Beach, S. C., for its eastern clubs. Three western farms, however, will continue to train at Bakersfield, Cal. Eastern club training was done at Suffolk, Va., last year.

Experts Find Mass Wheat-Spraying Experiment To Be OK

2, 4-D Used To Save Grain Crop

Yields Hiked By Practice

A mass wheat-spraying experiment carried out last Spring was a definite success, according to Larry A. Best, Pickaway County agricultural agent.

Best said that broad scale use of 2,4-D spray-on weedy wheat from the Canadian border deep into Texas saved millions of dollars in harvest expense in addition to the grain itself.

Quoting a report made by the magazine, Capper's Farmer, Best said reports from 250 wheat belt counties indicate that farmers have the answers about using 2,4-D in wheat which they lacked last Spring when weeds threatened the crop.

Some mistakes were made and everybody didn't get the same results, says a current article, but there is general agreement on main points.

"The greatest benefit from spraying was ease of harvest," Best declared. "Green weeds weren't left in standing wheat to slow the combine, require more power and dampen grain. Swathing avoids these troubles but means another trip over the field, boosting costs."

"SPRAYING increased yields in most areas. This would be expected because weed removal left more moisture, fertility and sunlight for wheat. Most common increase reported was 10 percent. In certain areas killing weeds didn't help yields. L. C. Aicher, superintendent of the Fort Hays experiment station, Kansas, thought that was because rains came at the right time in the season to supply both weeds and wheat."

"Early spraying was best for weed killing and wheat growth. Weeds were killed before they robbed the crop of fertility and moisture. Smaller weeds were easier to kill. Wheat, sprayed before it was fully tillered or stooled, had more time to recover from any setback caused by 2,4-D or the methods of applying it."

Best declared that just about every kind of weed that grows in the areas came up in the thin wheat. Sunflower and wild lettuce were hardest to kill. Bindweed and other perennials were sprayed to kill top growth and prevent seeding.

City Protesting Proposed Hike In Phone Rates

Solicitor George Gerhardt Tuesday night was instructed by Circleville city council to protest the proposed increase in Ohio Bell Telephone Co., long distance rates.

Gerhardt and Mayor Thurman I. Miller were notified by registered mail by the Ohio Public Utilities Commission that a hearing with the phone company was scheduled for Nov. 29 in Columbus.

The letter did not indicate what percentage of a raise would be inflicted on long distance phone users. Gerhardt declared in presenting the communication to council.

In offering the protest before council, Robert Adkins suggested the solicitor use as a basis in his letter the "extremely poor" telephone service in Circleville.

Although it was not decided Tuesday night, it seemed likely that Gerhardt would appear at the meeting in Columbus the latter part of this month.

The rate hike will not affect local telephone rates in Circleville except when long distance facilities are used over the Bell system, it was explained.

Ballot Thievery Claimed In Kentucky Town

PARIS, Ky., Nov. 3—Charges of ballot thievery and ballot box stuffing were hurled today in Bourbon County as the count was held up because of more than 50 ballots allegedly bearing forged signatures of election officials.

The 50 were found in the box of one precinct—the only counted. The ballots were marked for Democratic candidates—straight—and Democratic leaders at Paris promptly issued a statement last night charging that the voting slips were tampered with by someone who wanted to invalidate the election in a strong Democratic area.

The Republicans raised the first protest before the polls opened yesterday morning when 17 ballots were found in a box before the voting booth opened.

The tickets bore the names of a Republican and a Democratic election official but officials said the so-called signatures were "obvious forgeries."

But the stuffed box and discovery of "20 to 30" ballots missing from the ballot books caused extra precautions to be taken in examining the officials' identification of legitimate ballots to learn if additional election hoodwinking had been attempted.

The confusion became more acute last night when a GOP election commissioner complained he was ill and refused to count the ballots or permit anyone else to take his place.

Labor Chiefs Laud Own Work In Poll Results

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3—AFL Secretary-Treasurer George Meany today hailed the election results as a "terrific success" for union political action and said labor is in politics to stay.

The old brownstone mansion just across Lafayette Park from the White House, which houses AFL political headquarters, was a scene of wild excitement as news of Democratic victories poured in.

Meany commented: "We worked like hell in this campaign. But we were under no illusions. This thing even surprised us. We're tickled to death. It means labor's political arm is here to stay."

At CIO Political Action Committee offices, Director Jack Kroll and his aides viewed the 1948 elections as labor's "biggest political effort and biggest triumph."

A spokesman said CIO-PAC will be continued stronger than ever.

Kroll confidently predicted that a Democratic-controlled

81st Congress would carry out the party platform pledge to repeal the Taft-Hartley labor law. He said:

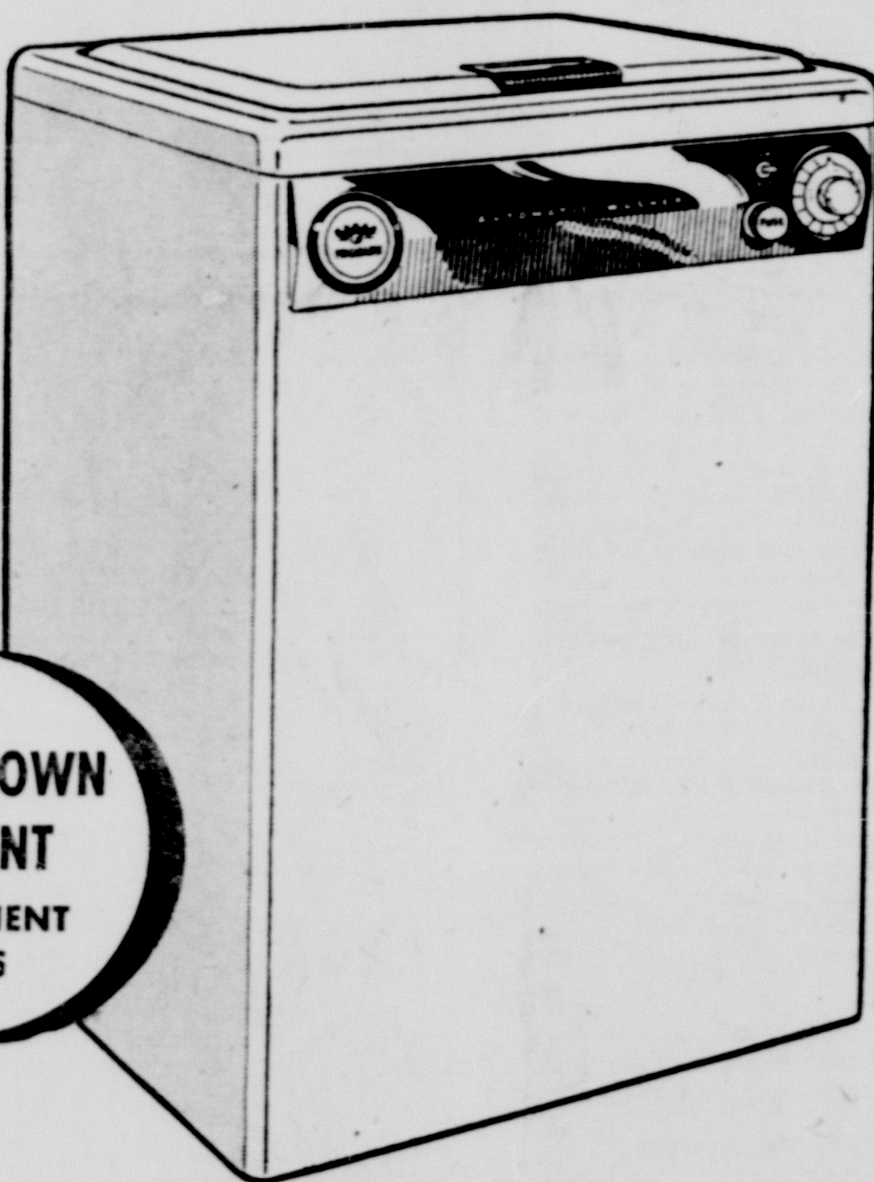

"The people of the United States have demonstrated their genuine unity in defense of the cherished principles of the New Deal."

"They have rejected the reactionary forces of big business in the Republican Party and its allies in the Dixiecrats and so-called Progressive camps, and they have cleaned their home of the reactionaries who slipped by in 1946."
